

ELSEVIER

Earth-Science Reviews 56 (2001) 325

www.elsevier.com/locate/earscirev

Contents Volume 56, 2001

Research Papers

| | |
|--|-----|
| A critique of Phanerozoic climatic models involving changes in the CO ₂ content of the atmosphere A.J. Boucot and J. Gray | 1 |
| An outsider's review of the astronomical theory of the climate: is the eccentricity-driven insolation the main driver of the ice ages? M. Elkibbi and J.A. Rial | 161 |
| Saharan dust storms: nature and consequences A.S. Goudie and N.J. Middleton | 179 |
| Terrestrial impact melt rocks and glasses B.O. Dressler and W.U. Reimold | 205 |
| Weathering mantles and their significance for geomorphological evolution of central and northern Europe since the Mesozoic P. Migoń and K. Lidmar-Bergström | 285 |
| Contents Volume 56, 2001 | 325 |

